The Attell-Moran moving pictures were shown in this city for the first time yesterday at a private exhibition to the press.

They are one of the cleverest sets ever taken. From the first round until the finish Moran is the little buildog, learing in all the time. Attell's cunning and skill as a boxer keeps him at an even gait with the Britisher, but the latter seems to be the stronger at the end, and up to the final gong has never let up in his aggressive work.
